

Sam: I can read women better than any blueprint. I understand their secret desires and insecurities, and I know how to get rid of them once I get off. But all bets are off when Tiel Desai slams into my life. I cant read the gorgeous conservatory-trained violinist, but shes the only one keeping me from shattering by small degrees, and I cant let her go. Tiel: My past - and New Jersey - are far behind me, and now my life is blissfully full of music: playing, teaching, and lecturing and scouring Bostons underground scene with an annoyingly beautiful, troubled, tattooed architect. Im defenseless against his rooftop kisses and his deep, demanding voice. I have Sam Walsh stuck in my head like a song on repeat, and Im happy pretending that history wont catch up with me.
