

Our brows are wreathed with spindrift and the weed is on our knees; Our loins are battered neath us by the swinging, smoking seas. From reef and rock and skerryâ€™ over headland, ness and voeâ€™ The Coastwise Lights of England watch the ships of England go! Through the endless summer evenings, on the lineless, level floors; Through the yelling Channel tempest when the syren hoots and roarsâ€™ By day the dipping house-flag and by night the rockets trailâ€™ As the sheep that graze behind us so we know them where they hail. We bridge across the dark, and bid the helmsman have a care, The flash that wheeling inland wakes his sleeping wife to prayer; From our vexed eyries, head to gale, we bind in burning chains The lover from the sea-rim drawnâ€™ his love in English lanes.
